

Millenary Tour Auto 2011 Chronograph

Serving as Official Timekeeper of the Tour Auto for the sixth year running, Audemars Piguet is also launching a new 150-piece limited numbered series: the Millenary Tour Auto 2011 Chronograph, a new timepiece added to the five previous editions.

Six years, six watches: after previous models from the Jules Audemars, Royal Oak and Royal Oak Offshore collections, the Manufacture Audemars Piguet proudly presents its new Millenary Tour Auto 2011 created to celebrate the latest edition of the race. This year's model offers an even deeper immersion into the automobile world, along with a distinctly retro touch reflecting the vintage spirit of the race.

This new timepiece equipped with an extremely reliable chronograph movement has a 40-hour power reserve and a balance beating at 21,600 vibrations per hour. Its black dial is circled by a flange with a tachometric scale and features silver-toned hour, minute and seconds counters. The open-worked dial area echoes a classic automobile theme, with circular-grained surfaces reminiscent of the finish on certain historical cars.

Representing the first generation of Millenary watches to be fitted with a steel case, this model is stamped on the caseback – like its predecessors – with the Tour Auto logo and bears the inscription "Millenary – Série Limitée". Finally, the Millenary Tour Auto 2011 is fitted with a hand-sewn black leather strap with lozenge-pattern stitching and is delivered in a dedicated presentation box.
